IN OBSERVATION OF Independence Day July 4, most governmental offices, banks, savings and loans and many local stores and businesses will be closed.

The police station, sheriff's office and other emergency centers, however, will be in operation.

The SUN office will be open Monday morning to accept news and advertisements.

Park bridge rail repairs are underway

Eying completion by this weekend, city workmen began setting columns into the walkway at San Gabriel Park.

They say it will take some doing but believe the work can be finished before the July 4 holiday period.

By way of background, City Manager Leo Wood explained why the problem originally developed.

"The double rails we used, consisting of heavy timber, had to be bolted in and there wasn't any give to them. The heavy flooding from our last storm caused such an accumulation of debris and logs that one column was forced out and another badly bent."

Wood says the city can salvage the two damaged rails by straightening and reusing them elsewhere.

"Making the walkway useable was done at a cost of $984.00.

the passing glance

By Don Scarbrough

Don't count America down, and certainly not out.

We'll lick this energy thing yet. Some fellow out in El Paso thinks he has the answer for a 100 mile-per-gallon full-sized automobile that would certainly stir things up. The Germans this week presented for fuel economy tests to the U. S. Transportation Department a Volkswagen they say will run 60 miles per gallon of low-priced diesel fuel.

SO, WHEN CIRCUMSTANCES demand, the inventive genius of man will prevail.

There is just one over-riding danger — we may blow the whole world sky-high through that same genius.

Oh, well, as University of Texas scientist said some years ago, "What's the problem? Our earth is not an important planet in the universal system!" That may not be exactly what he said, but close.

Here at home, better news. City Manager Leo Wood told me Thursday the city had come to terms with Mrs. Margaret Goodloe, whom he termed "a wonderful lady," on the corner property at Main and 9th, just east from the downtown fire department, which will be utilized as a parking lot for 30 to 32 cars.

MRS. GOODLOE, WOOD said, sold the lot to Georgetown for considerably less than she had been offered from private individuals, a most unselfish act that should and will be appreciated by all of us.

Thirty extra parking spaces will be of great help to our chronic down-town parking pain. Consider that a full block has only 17 spaces and you quickly realize how much the parking lot can mean. The city has a second parking lot on 7th Street, First National Bank has a free lot behind it on the same street and a fourth now free lot is open east of Austin Avenue on 10th. In time we may lose the latter lot as owners have plans that could change matters.

Wood said work on clearing and black-topping the newly-purchased lot would begin in a couple of weeks.

Youth Conservation Corps youngsters clearing Blue Hole for family picnic area and hiking trails.

Blue Hole area will be a park

Eighteen young conservationists began building a park at Blue Hole in Georgetown this week.

Their job consists of clearing land around the river, chopping trees, building pathways and walkways and nature trails, thinning out undergrowth, putting in trash receptacles, Bermuda sodding, and building embankment steps. Sufficient clearing for a picnic area has taken place to encourage you to give Blue Hole consideration during this July 4 weekend.

The road that goes by the old cemetery is open, providing easy access.

Along with deep-water swimming few probably realize that your youngsters will enjoy splashing about in a wading pool.

Very shortly you'll have convenient parking, all this being done with the intention of making Blue Hole attractive and desirable for family outings.

Fred Pond, coordinator, said plans call for retaining the natural primitiveness of the area. "We've received a number of calls from people asking whether we were wrecking the naturalness of Blue Hole since it's one of the few primitive areas left in Williamson County. Our answer is that we definitely plan to preserve all the primitive beauty that is here."

The youngsters are supervised by two local men with excellent conservation-awareness backgrounds: James Tippit, a high school biology teacher, and Fred Hilgeman of Southwestern University's chemistry department.

Hilgeman said he had lived in Georgetown ten years and had not seen Blue Hole until last week. "It's really beautiful out here," he said. "Wouldn't mind trying out the fishing sometime."

Tippit said the youngsters were working extremely well and he had received no complaints from anyone saying they were working too hard.

The program is not merely work-oriented. The boys and girls receive ten hours of training devoted to conservation awareness and ecology.

Pond said the Soil Conservation Service had been very helpful. "Mr. Lyle McAndrews, Director, Don Irving, and John Coker visited us today. They supplied a soil analysis to us, gave us tips on trail development and provided information on resodding to protect against erosion."

Also visiting Blue Hole this week was County Extension Agent John Cooper.

Man with $5,000 in cash is arrested for pot

Next time you wish you had money, just be glad you don't have to worry about having that money taken away.

Take the bizarre case of a 25 year-old Marshall, Texas man arrested south of Georgetown Wednesday morning for possession of marijuana.

THE GEORGETOWN Police Department got a call Wednesday at 4:45 a.m. from a man on a CB radio who said that three white males with long blond hair were following his car, trying to rob him.

Officer Rudy Aleman located the man at a rest area on Highway 29 west of Georgetown.

"The subject acted strange and had a 1 or 2 year-old baby with him," reported Aleman.

ALEMAN told the man, Robert William Hope, that he could rest at the Police Department and asked him to follow him back to the station.

Hope followed him back to IH 35, but then turned south on the west service road and took off at a high rate of speed, reported Aleman.

AT 5:23 a.m. the Sheriff's Department got a call from a woman on County Road 116 south of Georgetown requesting a Sheriff's Deputy in a hurry.

She said that a man was outside her home saying that he had $5,000 with him and that somebody was trying to rob him.

By the time Sheriff's Deputies got to the scene, Hope had left his car, with his son in it, behind the woman's house and had fled on foot.

DEPUTIES found Hope hiding in the brush behind the house at daylight.

He was clutching a large amount of money; he had it just loose in his hands in large bills reported Sheriff's Deputies.

A spokesman for the Sheriff's Department reported that Hope told them he was in no condition to drive his car, and asked Deputy Jim Boutwell to drive it back to the Sheriff's Office.

ENTERING Hope's car, Boutwell found a cigar box and suggested that Hope use it to store his money, said the Sheriff's Department.

Boutwell opened the box and found a quantity of suspected marijuana.

The small child was temporarily taken into custody by a child welfare worker.

HOPE was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana and later released on $500 bond.

There was one small bit of good news for Hope, he didn't have any trouble making bond.

Muniz trial

Ten selected for jury

Seven men and three women have been selected as jurors for the Muniz capital murder trial in Georgetown by noon Friday, July 1.

If the remaining two jury members were not chosen Friday afternoon, the jury selection will continue on Tuesday, July 5.

PEDRO CRUZ MUNIZ is accused of the rape and murder of a Southwestern University coed in Georgetown last December.

Approximately 60 prospective jurors have been questioned by the attorneys since the jury selection began on June 21. Five of ten members chosen have been selected during the last 2½ days of questioning.

Both District Attorney Ed Walsh and Defense Attorney Ruben Sandoval have 15

automatic strikes during jury selection, that is, they can have 15 prospective jurors disqualified without giving any reasons.

SO FAR, the state has used 5 strikes and the defense attorney has used 12.

Most of the prospective jurors questioned have been disqualified because it was the judge's opinion that something could prevent that person from being a completely fair and impartial juror.

AFTER ALL 12 members are picked, it is expected that District Judge William S. Lott will sequester the jury.

A sentence of either life imprisonment or death is mandatory if a defendant is found guilty in a capital murder case.

Once the trial begins, presentation of evidence is expected to take 3-5 days.

Police warning about fireworks and traffic

The fourth of July is traditionally a time of celebration but is easily marred by traffic accidents and fireworks mishaps. Georgetown police chief Travis Thomas said that he is anticipating a lot of traffic, both vehicular and pedestrian, in and around San Gabriel Park this holiday weekend.

"There is a city ordinance banning the use of fireworks inside the Georgetown city limits," the chief said as a reminder, "and there is a penalty of a fine up to $200."

Thomas added that fireworks are very hazardous, though not too often lethal, and should be used with care. He pointed out that to avoid a fine, persons should not shoot fireworks within the Georgetown city limits.

"The sale of fireworks is also banned inside the city limits," he said, "but there are a lot of stands springing up just outside the line."

Of much greater danger than fireworks, Chief Thomas said, is the increased traffic, especially in the park area.

"There are more drivers during the holiday, more picnickers, and more children playing. That makes for a bad mix with the vehicular traffic."

Thomas also said that the old cliches, "if you drink don't drive" and "keep it down around town" still apply and should not be taken lightly.

All available Georgetown police officers will be working over the holiday, Thomas said, and he encouraged everyone to "have a good time, safely."

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR JUNE GRADS

This season's commencement speakers have viewed with alarm, focused fearfully on unanswered questions and prodded our spring crop of young folks to "correct the mess" which they inherit.

I CHALLENGE THOSE who are so all-fired, hang-dog apologetic about the "mess."

Nor do I think this particular generation has been discriminated against — neither by fate nor by their fathers.

Erosion of our currency is threatening our solvency, but our dollar supply always has been either too fat or too lean.

There is much too much wanton crime abroad in our land, but most of its increase is juvenile — not adult.

IF SOME PARENTS have failed to set a proper example for their children, so have some parents — ever since Eve.

A newsman is more than ordinarily aware of society's shortcomings but let's examine the other side of the ledger.

This generation is seeing come to pass something mankind has sought for 6,000 years: War is going out of style!

For the first time in recorded history there is one nation in the world where nobody is going to bed really hungry — and we live there!

Our generation has dug itself out from under yet another recession and has gone on to rebuild the most powerful economy the world has ever known; today's young folks are heirs to that legacy.

OUR MUCH MALIGNED generation, also has managed such medical progress that every young man and woman is now reasonably assured of additional pain-free years of life itself!

We did that!

"You go forth," the commencement speaker says, "into a cruel world which is not of your own making."

No, by George, it is not of your making. It is of our making. It is of our making and we are not ashamed of it. We are proud of it!

So your atmosphere and water are polluted and our resources are depleted. Well, let me say this about that:

At every official measuring station, air and water pollution measures less than it did five years ago. We are swimming in San Francisco Bay again. We are fishing the Great Lakes again. The Cuyahoga River in Ohio does not catch fire any more.

Similarly, in every smoke-shrouded city in the United States the air is now purer than it's been in 30 years!

NEW ENERGY RESOURCES on the way are limitless, infinite!

Besides, this isn't supposed to be Paradise. Paradise is being prepared somewhere else; we have to prove here whether we deserve to be there. If there were perpetual sunshine there would be no victory.

It isn't supposed to be all fun or easy. We no longer tame the wilderness with an axe. But we still joust with dragons; we still match wits with unfriendly natives, and we still work and fight and pay — every bit as much today and with the same objective in view: you.

So you get no apology, June graduate. You get yourself a country mostly civilized, an economy still mostly free, a church door that is still open and unwatched, and you get a chance to preserve and protect and defend these things as we did. I hope you can do better than we did. But you could do worse!

Time for war

An estimated 500 to 600 citizens of the United States will (figuratively speaking) get a good-by kiss from their loved ones as they drive away from home this weekend — and that'll be the end of them.

THAT'S HOW MANY AMERICANS are scheduled to die over the glorious Fourth holiday, a statistic that contains so much suffering, sadness and loss, yet is accepted by the public with scarcely a lifted eyebrow.

If a foreign country bombed one of our border cities and killed 500 people we would declare war. Why not declare war on bad driving habits, including driving-while-drinking, the most-often cited reason for fatal crashes?

Anyway, be careful. We don't want to lose a subscriber.

Not a bad deal

Georgetown has no Independence Day weekend programmed that we know of but many citizens of this area are attending some or all the Williamson County Fair and Independence Festival that got underway Friday in Taylor.

CLIMAX OF THIS PROGRAM is the Miss Williamson County Beauty Pageant to be held Monday in the Taylor High School Auditorium beginning at 7 p.m. Beauties from all over the county are competing and will have their supporters on hand, so this should be a lively and lovely occasion.

Georgetown Country Club is having its usual golf tournament (a blind bogey) this weekend and Monday evening will put on the annual fireworks display which is seen for a considerable distance around. Many cars park along the river on the Country Club road or otherwise find vantage points for viewing the spectacular.

Otherwise, in Georgetown at least, the Independence Day weekend will be a time for swimming, mowing, pruning, relaxing with the family in various good ways, which ain't no bad program at all.

How federal savings insurance protects depositors

By Robert Edwards

Deposits in savings and loan association (S&L) shareholder accounts insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation (FSLIC) are protected to the same degree as savings in banks that are members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC). A previous "Moneywise" column (Nov. 24, 1976) reviewed the performance of the FDIC in

moneywise

protecting bank savers. Since then several readers have wondered about FSLIC protection.

The Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation was created in 1934 under the supervision of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. Deposits in S&Ls that are members of the FSLIC are insured to $40,000 per account. At the end of 1975 insured depositors numbered 67 million with savings totaling $278.8 billion.

The FSLIC attempts to head off problems with insured institutions to avoid a receivership. The FSLIC may arrange a merger between a faltering S&L and a stronger one by assuming partial or full responsibility for problem loans. Default prevention may also take the form of a loan, a cash contribution, and/or the purchase of assets. The FSLIC's success in preventing defaults has been so successful that only 13 cases out of 116 FSLIC involvements eventually ended in a receivership since 1934. In all 945,289 individual investors have been protected through Sept. 30, 1976.

Another point of confusion concerns savers. Although FSLIC reserves totaled $4.4 billion as of September, 1976, these represented only 1.38 percent of insured savings. Suppose several big S&Ls failed simultaneously? Would the total obligations swamp the relatively small reserve fund? If an insured institution should be forced into receivership, all of the money to pay accountholders does not come from the FSLIC. Only a small increment of FSLIC funds is needed to supplement assets to pay off accountholders in a receivership. A loan may be necessary to buy time as loans are collected over a period of several years by the FSLIC or a surviving institution.

Another myth that persists is the "rotation" of payoffs. Under rotation an S&L accountholder was paid a portion of his account, typically $1,000, and his name went to the bottom of the list when an S&L could not meet demands for cash. When his name came up again, he received another partial payment. This procedure has not occurred among FSLIC-insured institutions since 1934.

About 2 percent of deposits in institutions that later went into receivership have not been paid because account totals exceeded the insured limit. Many more cases occurred where FSLIC assistance kept the institution functioning and accountholders with amounts in excess of the limit were paid in full.

When an insured S&L enters receivership, accountholders are paid in full within two weeks up to the insured limit.

Account totals in excess of the insurance limits may be paid later when assets are sold or collected.

All federal savings and loan associations are insured by the FSLIC. State-chartered S&Ls may also be insured when approved by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. FSLIC may also insure approved building and loan associations, homestead associations, and co-operative banks. You can determine if an institution is insured by FSLIC by looking for a sign signifying it is a member or by asking. Some states offer insurance protection for state-chartered S&Ls, but these are not a part of FSLIC.

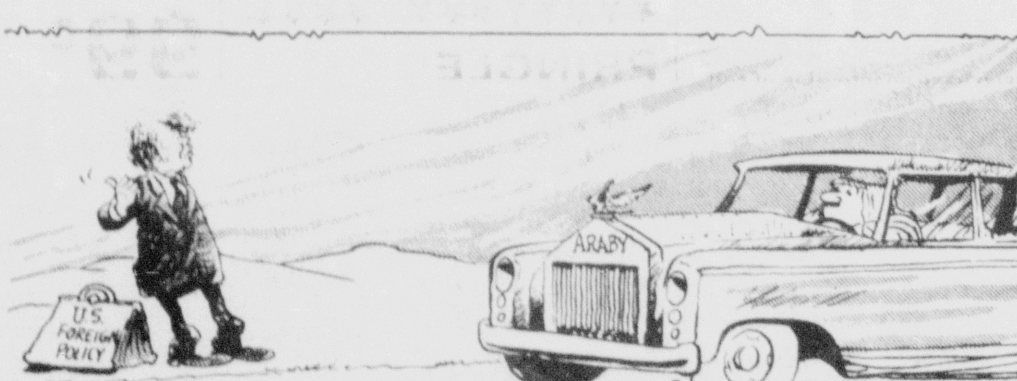

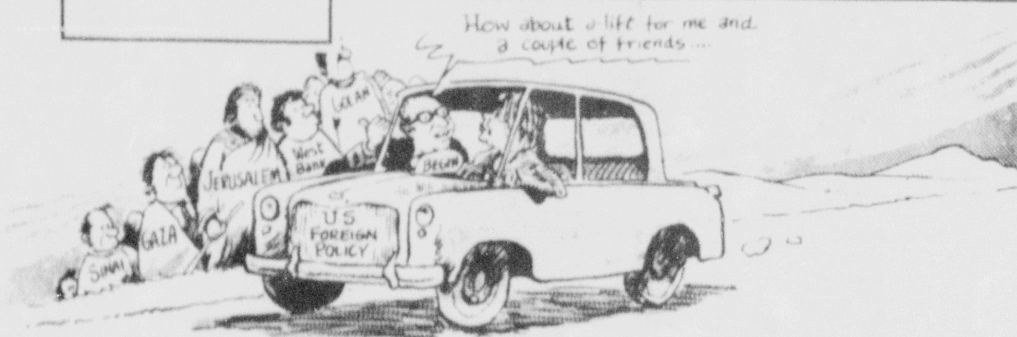

Readers seeking more information may request two free pamphlets, "FSLIC — Safety" and "Questions and Answers Concerning Your Insured Savings." Both are available from the FSLIC, 320 First Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20552.

Letters

Editor

I must admit that I was not surprised to see the front page of the Williamson County Sun - Thursday, June 16, 1977 with the top story of the "Blue Hole Raid". The article states that the officers were called to the scene because of several reports of auto burglaries by swimmers. This is pretty questionable to me. Does this mean that the swimmers were being burglarized or were the swimmers the burglars? If my calculations are correct, Judge Bill Hill made $1,857.50 (minus court costs @ 2.50 per person) for the day. Is any of this tax deductible? This is absolutely incredible to me. He must be one of the top paid county officials. Perhaps your story headline should be retitled the "Bill Hill, J.P. No. 1 Fund Raising Week-End."

Sincerely,
Marcy Atkins

Editor's note: It's incredible to Bill, also. He doesn't get a thin dime out of the money collected. He's on a flat salary.

AUSTIN NOTEBOOK

By Bill Kidd

AUSTIN — This fall, the State Bar of Texas will sponsor a special seminar for agencies under the newly-passed "sunset law" which provides for periodic review of State agencies to determine if they need to be continued.

One of the agencies set for review in the first batch — in 1979 — is the State Bar, which didn't want to be included at all, and certainly not in the first group.

The reason, Bar officials say, is that they're still working on getting funds for the new $6,000,000 headquarters building — which still needs $2,400,000 to pay off its mortgage.

And having to submit financial reports and records in October for the start of the review process could hurt efforts to raise the funds to complete that pay-off by reviving the earlier controversy on the $4,000,000 mortgage.

There's no ulterior motive in the seminar — since, the Bar says, the law is the law, and the Bar has been put under the "sunset" provisions.

The Bar has had its share — and perhaps more — of public relations problems lately, but that, as Communications Director Jim McNabb notes, is nothing new.

"We started having public relations problems when the first lawyer came down the pike," he jokes.

Still, while there are ample precedents for distrust of lawyers (going back to Biblical times at least), the legal profession has been under more than usual attention — and has appeared to have more than usual difficulties — in recent days.

Apart from the problems of the State Bar, there have been several embarrassing episodes involving the judiciary.

First there was District Judge O. P. Carrillo, who was ousted by the Legislature before the cumbersome machinery of the Judicial Qualifications Commission could manage to act.

There was Houston District Judge Garth Bates, whose bribery conviction is still pending final disposition.

Then there's Supreme Court Justice Donald Yarbrough, whose alleged entanglements read like a somewhat demented legal soap opera.

Meanwhile, promised efforts to attempt to disbar Yarbrough creep on, moving toward an Aug. 1 trial date, with count after count of alleged impropriety piling up — while Yarbrough continues to go about his daily duties.

Yarbrough's problems have led to some renewed calls for selection of judges by "merit," a proposal which has never gotten much support in the past — and which apparently would divide members of the State Bar on yet another matter.

The Bar's recent convention in Houston pointed out that lawyers are as divided — perhaps more divided — as non-lawyers on issues such as the Equal Rights Amendment and discrimination towards homosexuals.

There are even some lawyers who feel like the Bar's status as a State agency should be eliminated — and some lawyer-legislators have even brought forth proposals which would have done that.

One of the perennial legislative set-pieces involves right-to-work, with the argument of "why should someone have to belong to the State Bar to practice law — don't we believe, in right-to-work for everyone," et cetera.

Despite the grouching and grumbling of some members, however, it's about as safe to predict that the State Bar will continue operating as it is to predict hot weather in August.

The legal profession, like the medical profession, generally has been successful in policing its members at the internal level.

It is, in fact, the unusual nature of the problems of the Bar which have attracted attention — and after the burst of interest by lawmakers (including the shocking — to the Bar — proposal to put it under the appropriations process), everything should settle back down.

Meanwhile, the Bar (while denying it's trying to take the offensive) seems to be lining up allies and getting braced for a fight for its continued existence — just in case.

STATE Capital NEWS

AUSTIN — Rep. Frank Hartung, backed by House Speaker Bill Clayton, has made a bid to have his state money management bill revived on the agenda for the forthcoming special legislative session.

The Houston Republican told a news conference this week he and Clayton have both written Gov. Dolph Briscoe asking that HB 1984 be included on the agenda of the session now scheduled to begin July 11.

HB 1984, which died in a Senate committee during the last days of the regular session, requires the State Treasury and Depository Board to invest more of the state's money in interest-paying time deposits.

It would also grant the state agency new power to invest in savings and loan accounts, as well as government securities, authority the Treasury doesn't have under present law.

Hartung said the state is currently losing $2 million monthly on money deposited in non-interest paying checking accounts scattered in more than 1,300 banks statewide.

He said it was appropriate his bill should be included in the special session called to pass a public school finance bill for the next two years.

The approximately $42 million lost every two years because of poor money management could be used to help finance public schools in Texas, he said.

Hartung admitted he hasn't had any indication from the governor that his bill is being considered as a special session agenda item.

Also bidding for a spot in the session are bills to repeal the state sales tax on utilities and to reform the state property tax code.

So far, however, Briscoe had indicated only public school finance will be on the agenda and all other matters are merely under consideration.

Water Agencies

The Texas Water Development Board began last Monday the work of reorganizing the present three state water agencies into one entity to be known as the Texas Water Resources Board.

The WDB is responsible for carrying out the reorganization under a new law passed by the 65th Legislature and effective Sept. 1. The Texas Water Quality Board, Water Development Board and Water Rights Commission are to be combined.

All three of the current executive directors are vying openly for the job as head of the super agency including Hugh C. Yantis (WQB), Gen. James M.

Rose (WDB) and Robert Schnieder (WRC).

However, WDB Chairman A. L. Black said after the first meeting the final choice might come from outside the present executive circle. "I wouldn't want to narrow the field down to any one, two or three individuals," Black said.

Hill Will Sue

Atty. Gen. John Hill said this week he will take the Texas Water Rights Commission to court if necessary to overturn its latest order.

Last week the WRC okayed a $50 million, 55-year contract by which the Lower Colorado River Authority will sell water to the South Texas Nuclear Project at Bay City.

Hill maintains the water in the state's rivers and impoundments belongs to the people and while river authorities have the right to control it, they have no right to sell it.

Reminded that several other river authorities in the state are selling water under similar contracts, Hill remarked "I've learned a lot from this case and we'll be looking at some of these other contracts too."

Appointments

Just before leaving on vacation, Gov. Briscoe handed out appointments to various state agencies and institutions by the bunches.

These included three new members to the Texas Southern University Board of Regents, the Rev. Moses L. Price and Ronald Pruitt of Houston, Milledge A. Hart III of Dallas, and the reappointment of Ernest S. Sterling of Tyler.

Texas Tech University also got three new regents in Clint Formby of Hereford, Roy K. Furr of Lubbock and James L. Snyder of Baird.

James R. (Jim Bob) Paxton of Palestine was appointed to a six year term on the Parks and Wildlife Commission replacing longtime member Jack R. Stone of Wells who is resigning.

New Judgeship

Olin G. Wellborn Jr. of Alvin is Briscoe's choice for the bench of the newly created 239th Judicial District Court in Brazoria County.

Judge Wellborn is formerly judge of the 23rd Judicial District Court. He said he will not be a candidate for election to the judgeship in 1978, stating "my successor should be elected by the people."

AG Opinions

Atty. Gen. John Hill has held a sheriff may not make an arrest outside of his county for an offense even if it is committed in his presence or within his view.

Before editor Scarbrough re-names this so-called column 'The Ancient Mariner' or 'The Senior Citizens Corner' or before the readers get the impression that only the elderly live in East Williamson County, let me say hurriedly that this is only a short incursion into the misty past.

THEN WE'LL GET into something more timely. It's the passing of the old box supper that used to take place on the last day of the small country school year. The finely wrapped and decorated shoe boxes containing the goodies, usually fried chicken and trimmings were auctioned off to the highest bidders. Bidding for the teacher's box was the most spirited and brought the most money, but occasionally also led to some more or less serious hassle which sometimes was finally settled outside the school building with a wrestling match. The winner of two out of three falls got the teacher's box.

Also interesting were the various skits and recitations put on along with the box supper. I remember one such occasion when it was my role to recite the "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star." Walking onto the stage and glancing at the audience there seemed to be thousands of swarming and maliciously grinning faces looking straight at me. Well... the little star twinkled for about two lines and went out, and so did I. Frozen stiff with stage fright I broke through the side door and ran until I got home, and so ended a budding stage career.

SHORT TAKES. L. D. Hammack, retired president of the Taylor Bedding Mfg. Co. may be the only Taylor business man (except those of Spanish ancestry) who speaks proficient Spanish. In the passing of Dr. Roy Kirkpatrick, Taylor lost an outstanding citizen, and lots of people lost a kind and understanding doctor. Monroe Davison and "Swede" Ahlgren are expert birdwatchers, and in interesting conversationalists on the subject. Next time in Taylor, pick up your binoculars and if you see a strange looking bird (no cute remarks, please; you can see me without binoculars) ask them for the name and migrating habit. That Stiles Foundation bash was a tremendous success. Calvin Rinn really knows whereof he speaks and does. It rained a little and some of us got pretty well soaked (by the rain).

CHANGING OF THE GUARD. Installation of new service club officers is not always considered as a first line report. This 57th annual installation of new officers of the Rotary Club of Taylor was something else. On Thursday night of past week, Taylor Rotarians and Rotary-Anns gathered in the new What's Your Beef restaurant in Thrall to honor the outgoing and welcome the incoming. In a typical Rotary spirit of fellowship, many awards and recognitions of jobs well done were given to the outgoing managing team. The club had an usually successful year in all its phases of service to the community. Stanley Keese, executive vice-president of First-Taylor National Bank, the outgoing club president received a standing ovation for his outstanding service to the club. Gene McAlpine received the gavel and responsibility for another good Rotary year. Ranken Kennedy did the installation ceremonies... beautifully. H. L. Farrell is the new vice-president, Bill Schlecht, whom everyone loves, but no one wants to do business with him, is the new secretary, and Bill Luedicke is the treasurer. The beautiful people got into the act, too. Cathy Keese presented a plaque to Karon McAlpine... and that's nice. Who knows, some day the Taylor Rotary Club might have a lady president. Whoops... did I say that?

Florence Masons to hold open installation

Florence Masonic Lodge Number 338, AF&AM, will hold an open installation of newly elected officers on July 9 beginning at 7:30 p.m.

He pumps gas at old Weir State Bank Bldg.

by JAMES NAPIER

It's an unlikely location for a gasoline station — after all, not many are housed in bank buildings.

Today Macon "Mack" Jones pumps gasoline at the former Weir State Bank building, a bank he remembers closing the books for on October 8, 1928.

At that time Jones, a young cashier, ended his banking career and became an automobile salesman.

"I came to Georgetown and sold cars for A. G. Braun Autos — the exact spot where Compton Motors is now located," he says.

How is it, then, that Jones has spent most of his working life operating a business in the old Weir State Bank?

Jones recalls that "I bought out Mobil oil in 1931 and became a wholesale gasoline distributor in Weir, Jonah, Circleville, Granger, Schwertner, almost into Hutto.

"For 36 years I supplied gas, using this old building. 1967 I sold out but kept the station and I've continued to pump gas ever since."

One ironic development remains to be told. Although Jones spent most of his working life (close to 50 years) in the old bank building, he does not own it.

"I'd give my right arm to get this building," he says. "I've even made offers but it's tied up in an estate—been that way for over ten years.

"I'd love to own this built in 1902, it's an incredibly sturdy building needing only minor repairs. Jones, puffing away compulsively on a cigarette, reminisced about Weir's early years saying he remembers when Weir had a lumber yard, barber shop, pool hall, schools, a funeral home, "but no more," he says.

"The land around Weir property. My whole life is tied to it. There's a whole lot I could do with it if it were mine," Jones remarked.

"You see, when the bank closed in 1928, the father of Annie C. Burnap took this building for his part as stockholder. The daughter inherited it and just wouldn't sell. While visiting a friend in Corpus Christi about ten years ago, she died and its all been tied up as part of her estate ever since.

Noteworthy features of the Weir Mobil Station include: 2 x 12 boards in the ceiling, a cashier's cage with steel bars, and the original bricks. Although is owned by a few families who have no intention of selling. This is one reason Weir probably won't grow very much."

Whatever happens growth-wise, however, one thing is certain: Mack Jones will continue pumping gas and enjoying past memories.

Liberty Hill NEWS

By Howard N. Wilson

This is another big weekend in Liberty Hill. On Saturday, July 2, Summer's first Liberty Hill Market Day is being staged, and Monday is Independence Day. We can hope that this weekend and July 4, will be a safe one in and around our community. We want to encourage all of you to be careful with whatever you are doing, especially if you will be on the highway. As we all know, on the highways is usually where most of the accidents occur and lives are lost — DRIVE CAREFULLY!

Summer is still, of course, the season of the year when most people get away from it all for a few days for a vacation trip. There are travelers on the roads now all year round, but summer is still the most popular. We would like to hear about all of the vacation trips of our people, even if they are just for the weekend. We are always glad to know about the visitors to our fair community!

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Carson of our town, and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Lewis of Conroe, have just returned from a two-week vacation trip to the Rockies. They visited with friends in Montana, and they visited with nephews in Salt Lake City, Utah! They also visited with Mrs. Carson's brother and sister-in-law in Marti, Utah.

The Carsons' trip took them through eleven states. They visited many parks and other points of interest in each state, including the Black Hills' Passion Play in the Black Hills of South Dakota. The Carsons, of course, just couldn't miss Yellowstone National Park, one of the world's more unique wonders, in Wyoming.

Recent guests in the home of Mrs. Vivian McFarlin were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jennings. She is the youngest daughter of Mrs. McFarlin. They also visited with Henry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Jennings. While the Jennings were here they all attended the Williamson County Sheriff's Posse Rodeo in Georgetown.

Jack Corbitt of Henly visited briefly several days ago in the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Jewell and Dorothy Wilson.

Last Thursday Melba Lackey accompanied Caroline Lackey and Brett of Florence to doctors in Austin where Brett received treatment.

Jewell and Dorothy Wilson were in Austin last Thursday where Mom is getting treatment. Mary, Debra, Dianne, and Donna Johnson accompanied the Wilsons to Austin. They were here from San Saba for a visit.

Mrs. Marthielle Ford is back at home now after spending several months in Port Lavaca with her daughter and children.

A few days ago a man over the radio offered this good advice — "We come this way only once, so slow down and enjoy the trip. You'll be able to remember more and be remembered more!"

National Park Service offers LBJ country tours

In the Texas Hill Country is a ranch that is like many others in the Southwest. It has a herd of Hereford cattle, a showbarn and some cowboys.

But unlike other modern ranches, this one isn't keeping up with the times. It is deliberately being maintained as it looked in the late 1960s when Lyndon B. Johnson lived and worked on it as a rancher and as the 36th president of the United States.

THE RANCH, part of the Lyndon B. Johnson National Historic Site, is operated by the National Park Service. As part of a living history program, the agency maintains the ranch scene — the pastures, croplands, fences, Herefords, corrals and showbarn — as it appeared in President Johnson's years. This includes irrigating some 200 acres on a year round basis, plowing, planting, feeding the livestock and handling all the other chores that crop up on a ranch.

IH 35 to be part of state beautification

Bids for a junkyard screening project in Williamson County will be received July 26-27 by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

The project, part of the highway beautification program, will be located on Interstate 35, one mile south of US 81 Business Route North.

Harry Johnson will be in direct charge of the project, under the general direction of District Engineer Travis Long of Austin.

Visitors can see the ranch lands by taking a tour bus that departs from the visitor center at the LBJ State Historical Park, across the Pedernales River from the ranch.

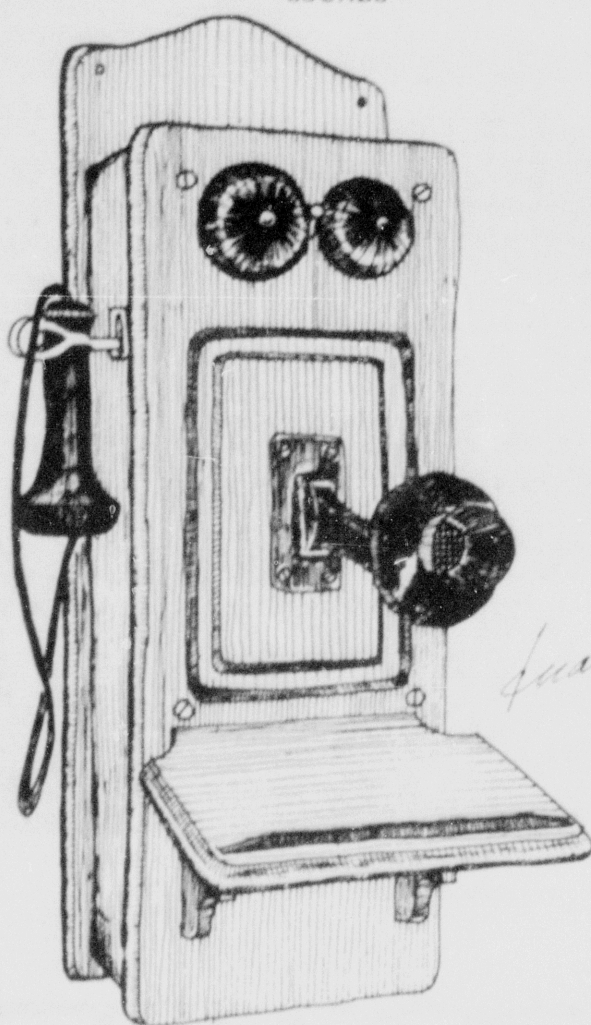

THE BUSES, which run from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in spring and summer and until 4 p.m. in the fall and winter also take visitors to see the one-room Junction School, where LBJ got his first taste of education at the age of four, the Johnson Birthplace, a reconstructed two bedroom farmhouse where Lyndon was born and the Johnson Family Cemetery and the President's grave.

Tuesdays through Saturdays, the tour goes by the "Texas White House" where the President worked and where he retired. Lady Bird Johnson still resides in the ranch house and on many occasions, visitors catch a glimpse of the former First Lady, who always waves at the visitors.

The Ranch House is located 15 miles from Johnson City where other portions of the historic site are located.

REMEMBERING...

By BILL BROOKS
SOUNDS

Think how long it has been. Remember? Remember when the last time was that you heard the windmill creaking in the night, or the sound of crickets or maybe bullfrogs down by the pond? Or do you recall the tiny sound water made as it trickled down through the rocks, ferns and moss in the spring branch?

I have listed some other sounds that I remember. As I wrote I could almost hear them clearly as if it were another time and they were really happening. As you read, please think of these sounds and, yes, others that have special meaning to you. Remember...? A horse pulling a wagon down the road in front of the house; field hands singing as they hoed in the cotton patch; the sound a full cotton sack made as it was pulled along between the rows of cotton; the sound the garden gate made when the wind blew or when you opened it, the "PLUNK" when you dropped a rock into the cistern; a whippoorwill's call in the late evening; wind in the trees or a train whistle a long way off?

Maybe you remember the sound made by the first squirt of milk from the cow into an empty milk bucket, or other sounds like the "pop-pop-pop" of the big green "Popping Johnnie" tractor like we had when I was a kid; a rooster's crow in the morning; bacon frying in the skillet; the first cry of your first child; rain on a tin roof; Mary Ellen's song leading at church when the pianist didn't show up; the mystery shows on the radio a long time ago; a porch swing; the crackle of a campfire; the "cheep, cheep" of baby birds in a nest when they thought you were their mother; the big bell that hung in front of the school.

I remember the sound of the hammer striking the anvil in Dad's shop, a lost calf bawling for its mother, a churn as it sloshed, sloshed, making butter. There were other sounds like stropping a straight razor; chopping wood, pigs eating slop, a cow bell up the trail away; the whining of a new puppy the first night we had him, a tea kettle singing on the stove, a victrola winding down, a telephone ringing two shorts and a long on a party line.

Some sounds I shall never forget are the rustle of mother's starched apron as she readied Sunday dinner, the floor board that creaked when you stepped on it a certain way, the music box Grandmother kept on her dresser and the first shovel full of dirt on my Grandpa's coffin.

(Miss Rhonda Gayle Housewright)

Vows unite Jackson, Housewright

Miss Rhonda Gayle Housewright, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Housewright of Austin, and Gary Ray Jackson were married at the Fairview Baptist Church in Austin Saturday, June 26.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert B. Jackson of Austin.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Lucar and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Attendants included a maid of honor, best man and groomsmen.

The couple will make their home in Austin.

Sweetbriar

by MAE WILLIAMS

We are so happy to have Mrs. Marion Beck to come to us from Abilene as Activity Director. She began work on May 30, 1977. She was born in Taylorville, Illinois and came to Texas in 1972. She worked the past five years in Abilene as Activity Director for Care Inn of Abilene.

Mrs. Beck has really been an asset to this home. Many activities, old and new, have been either added or rekindled. We appreciate most her spiritual care of the home. We have a devotion on Tuesday afternoon and on Tuesday have been hearing stories written by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale. Some intellectual and recreational things which we have just begun with Mrs. Beck are bowling, balloon volleyball and oral quizzes. The beginning of a Residents Council is something we have not had before. If anyone would like to present a program or do volunteer work in any way, please contact Mrs.

Beck for an appointment, at 863-5522.

As usual we had a lovely birthday party for our residents. Those celebrating their birthday in June were Mrs. Alva Copeland, Mrs. Minnie Bishop, Leta Horton, Luke Jefferson, Clarinza Clairborne and Beatrice Roundtree.

We had a going away party for one of the employees which was a picnic at the park. Thirty residents took part and after a lovely feast we had watermelon and home-made ice cream. A good time was enjoyed by all.

On June 8, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Doering celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary. They were married at the Zion Lutheran Church at Walburg. The couple had four children. Mr. Doering is a patient at the nursing home.

We wish to thank all the churches that come out to provide services for our patients on Sunday, the singing group on Wednesday night, the storyteller on Saturday afternoon and all persons or groups that help make life for our patients more meaningful.

Florence church plans July revival

Lawler Baptist Church in Florence will hold revival services July 8 through July 17, Rev. D. E. Simpson has announced.

The pastor said that services will be held each evening at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend the revival.

Conserve energy on summer trips

To help solve the energy crisis, "non-fuelish" vacations will be in style this summer.

President Carter, in his energy message, set a goal for 1985 that, if reached, would reduce gasoline consumption by 10 percent below its current level.

"Conservation is the quickest, cheapest, most practical source of energy," he said. "We waste more energy than we import."

IF EVERY automobile were driven just 10 miles less per week, the nation's gasoline supply would be increased by 3.5 billion gallons per year. That's nearly 5 percent of the total demand for gasoline for passenger cars.

If you are planning a vacation this year, there are some ways that you can contribute to energy savings:

—Don't pick a far away park to visit just because it's famous. Investigate the parks right around your home. You might be surprised how many are located within an easy drive and how much they have to offer. Free "Super 77" vacation brochures are available that show the location and facilities of national park service areas within an easy drive of your home. To get a copy write the NPS, P. O. Box 728, Room K-17, Santa Fe, N. M. 87501.

—When you get to a park, park your car. You won't burn any fuel if you're walking down a nature trail. A truly rewarding park trip comes from close inspection. Instead of trying to get to two or three parks in a single day, inspect the wonders of the park you have already arrived at.

—MANY PARKS can be reached by public transportation. Whenever possible, leave the driving to someone else. You'll be more refreshed when you arrive and can spend your energy enjoying yourself rather than leaving it along the road.

—If you do drive, remember that the air conditioner in your car will reduce your mileage 2 to 6 miles per gallon. Keep the car windows open and the air conditioner off until it gets uncomfortable. And if you haven't already, remove your snow tires because they reduce fuel economy. You won't be needing them in the parks this summer.

—You know what driving above the speed limit does to gasoline mileage. If you visit a nearby park, you won't need to travel above 55 mph. And at a lower speed, you won't feel "wring out" when you get back home.

US Highway 79 to be widened

Bids for placing additional guard rail and widening narrow structures on highways in Williamson County will be received July 26-27 by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

The work will include a section of US 79 from Interstate 35 to FM 685 west of Hutto.

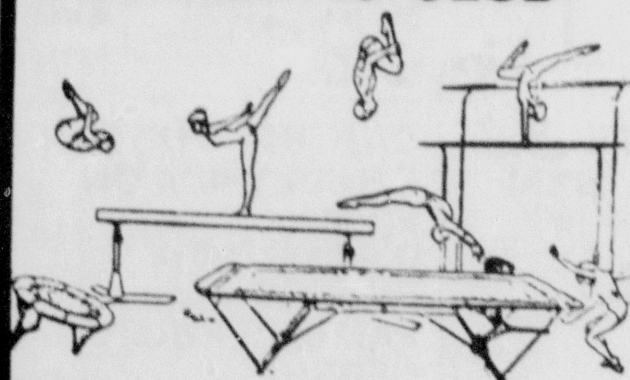

The work will be done at various locations from Interstate 35 to Taylor on US 79 and on State Highway 95 from Taylor to the Bell County line.

The work will provide a safer facility because of the additional guard rail protection and wider structure clearances.

The work will be under the general direction of District Engineer Travis Long of Austin. Edward S. Balser of Bastrop will be the department's engineer in direct charge of the work.

Joe L. Mankins learned his fore-bearer was a sportin' man

By JOE L. MANKINS

With the publication of the Centennial Edition of the Sun a few weeks ago, many readers were reminded that real people — their ancestors — settled this land and had fun, elected politicians, sued one another and experienced dangers, much as today's inhabitants.

For instance, I found out that my Great-grandfather, Sam Mankins, was a sportin' man. One of the first recreational installations made around here, about 1850, was a race track and the first race was between Sam's mare "Shadthy," ridden by his 12 year old son Henry, and a horse named "Old Smoke." These facts told me more about the man and his family than would half a dozen letters back to his relatives in Arkansas.

I GOT INTERESTED in searching for my "Roots" a year or two before Alex Haley made it so popular. I floundered a lot and made several mistakes but I think if I point out a few things, you will have a little easier time of it.

First, try to get several members of your family interested in the project. Next, each of you sit down and write every possible fact, rumor and hint that might deal with your family history. Then take this to the oldest members of your clan, and, with notebook in hand, ask for their version of some of the incidents you set down.

This will do two things, first it will almost always assure you of a different version and, second, it will keep you from looking like a ghoul who expects the oldest to die at any minute. Let's face it, they are going to die sometime, and if you don't get their stories down on paper they will be lost forever.

ANOTHER GOOD SOURCE of information is family reunions. Not just your own family but distant branches. Some of those obscure cousins may be holding a big package of letters from one of your great-grandparents without knowing what line of the family they fit in with. The exchange of information at one of those affairs is always interesting and generally results in your going home with some new, usable data.

While you're visiting Grandma or Great-grandpa be sure and ask for the names, birthdays, marriage dates, etc. of every member of the family they can think of, especially those born before 1880. This will become important after you get serious about your search as that is the date of the last census that is generally available. Microfilm copies of the 1880 census are available at genealogy libraries throughout the country, (there's a great one in Houston, the Clayton Library) and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints maintain genealogy research centers all over the country so you can ask one of your Mormon friends where the nearest is.

THERE WERE TWENTY-SIX questions asked in the 1880 census and every member of a household is named, with their age and relationship to the "head of this family" so there's many things you can learn about your people who lived in that year.

Perhaps the most important questions asked, from the standpoint of the budding genealogist, are the last two on the page, "where were your father and mother born?" These answers will take you back another 30 or 40 years and perhaps to another state or country.

The 1890 census was destroyed by fire and the 1900 census is available on a limited basis at the Fort Worth Regional Archives. All later censuses are unavailable. To check out the 1900 census you must call for a reservation and bring proof you are a member of the family. Specific Congressional action is required before a general distribution can be made.

DON'T GET HUNG UP on the spelling of your name. Documents and newspapers from the 1800's are notorious for spelling the same name differently in different places, many times on the same page! If your name ends in an "s", expect to see it dropped and picked up many times. Similarly, names ending in "in" or "en" will be transposed in random fashion.

With any sort of complicated name at all you will be amazed at the many different ways it can be misspelled. Port authorities were also notorious for misspelling foreign names and trying to make them sound more American.

To make any sort of organized effort you must begin with a pedigree chart. Believe it or not, they were used for humans before they were used for registered bulls and dogs. Again, ask a Mormon friend or ask at a bookstore or make one of your own this way — Get a long sheet of paper and turn it sideways.

Draw two horizontal lines at the center of the left side, long enough for the names of your mother and father. Leave enough space for birthdays, date of marriage, death, etc. Then move over to the right and put a pair of lines by your parents' names for your grandmothers and grandfathers, and so on across the page. Right away you'll notice that you're running out of space vertically before you get to the right side of the page but never mind, I think you can make it look better than I can describe it.

KEEP THE MAN'S NAME on top in each generation. It's not male chauvinism that makes me say that, it's just that the man's name doesn't change when he gets married and you can file the sheets easier that way.

Interested in your roots? This article tells you how to go about digging them up.

Fill in as much information as you can about each one, as far back as you can go. Don't worry about them being incomplete, it all helps. I have quite a few lines with only a first name or date of death in the space.

At some point in all this you'll begin to feel the need for more general information and the Georgetown Library is the logical place to begin. Librarian Mrs. Verne Philpot and her competent staff can help you get started in the right direction.

THERE IS A LARGE "Texana" section plus several items behind the counter that will be of great interest to residents of Williamson County. The most important of these perhaps, is the award-winning book, "Land of Good Water" by Clara Scarborough. It has a good index and maps with all the old and new names of places. I feel it's invaluable to the person interested in what happened here in the 1800's.

Another excellent source is a periodical the local library subscribes to called "Our Heritage," published by the San Antonio Genealogical and Historical Society. This little magazine is devoted to publishing various lists compiled by people all over the state. When a volume has information concerning Williamson County, there is a blue tag on the upper right hand corner with the page number of the data. Some of the lists published include, marriage licenses beginning in 1848, probate records 1848-1900, Civil War veterans buried in Williamson County, and much more.

Williamson County Cemeteries, Volume I" was prepared and published in 1975 and Volume II is in preparation. Both of these are available at the counter. Miss Laverne Faubion of Georgetown is the chairman of the committee assembling volume II and I'm sure she'd welcome any information you may have about obscure family plots, even if only one or two graves are located there.

JUST A FEW MINUTES DOWN Interstate 35 is Austin with a much larger library, The State Archives, the Land Office which has a name index of Spanish, Mexican and Republic of Texas land grants, and many other sources I'm only dimly aware of.

Genealogy can be a fascinating hobby. It is inexpensive and you are producing something of great value to leave your descendants. It can also be a time-consuming hobby once you're hooked on it but I'm intrigued by the uncensored, "warts-and-all" look at my predecessors on this planet.

I'd be more than happy to correspond with any of readers of this article who may have questions, especially those who have letters, pictures or information concerning the Mankins clan.

Florence Library to have Friendship Days booth

Members of Florence's Public Library Board met at 6 p.m. Tuesday, June 28.

The board decided to sell hot dogs and lemonade in the Friendship Days Booth. Also a Bake Sale will be held. Here is where volunteers are asked to bring cookies, pies or cakes to the Library during Friendship Days for sale. Many things are needed to support the Library now that it is growing and even though the work is volunteer, money is desperately needed to buy supplies, etc. So here again is your opportunity to do your thing and help the Library of Florence.

The librarian also announced that she had been visited by supervisors of the CETA Program and been complimented on the operation and condition of the Library. She also announced that volunteers are still needed very badly to help catalog the many, many books to be placed on the shelves for use. If anyone, large or small, young or old, ever have any spare time, the Library can use you. Come by and help. The Library will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday.

Librarian, Pat Howe, reported the following Memorials received: for Mrs. Hattie Nowlin and Mrs. Bernice Gigs from the A. N. Wales family; for Mrs. H. L. Lindert from Larry Clark; for Mr. Bob Gilmore from Ronald Piperi.

Mrs. Howe also announced the following individuals had donated books: Mrs. C. A. Brooks, Mrs. Jane Marshal, Mrs. Pauline Mullen, Mrs. Dorothy Frist, Mrs. Mary Alberts, Mrs. Doris Lindsay and Mrs. Zelma Rhoades.

WESTINGHOUSE ORDER OF MERIT award was presented to Nikolous Onjanow, manager of the AC Development Engineering for the Heavy Motor Division of Westinghouse. Presenting the award is Douglas D. Danforth, Westinghouse Industry Products Company president.

Westinghouse awards highest honor to HIMD engineer

Nikolous Onjanow, Manager, AC Development Engineering, for the Heavy Industry Motor Division of Westinghouse Electric Corporation has been awarded the corporation's highest honor, the Westinghouse Order of Merit.

Onjanow received the award from Westinghouse Industry Products Company president, Douglas D. Danforth, who cited him for "his skill and ingenuity in evolving solutions to complex problems of electrical rotating machines; for his innovations in analysis and prediction of performance, resulting in machines of greater reliability with less volume and weight and lower production cost; for his pioneering achievements in increasing power — output densities of large induction motors; and for his total dedication to the goal of making Westinghouse the leader in the design and development of electrical rotating machines."

The Order of Merit recipient earned his BSEE degree in 1949 at Bremen, Germany and joined Westinghouse in 1957 as a design engineer.

Onjanow transferred to the Heavy Industry Motor Division in 1974 as an Advisory Engineer and was promoted to his present position in 1976.

New telephone for Georgetown, Taylor

Richard T. Hargrove, manager of the Austin district office of the Social Security Administration, has announced the acquisition of Enterprise telephone service for the residents of Georgetown and Taylor.

Beginning in July, residents of these two towns may call the Austin Social Security Office toll-free.

To utilize this service, simply dial the operator and ask for Enterprise 8-6799.

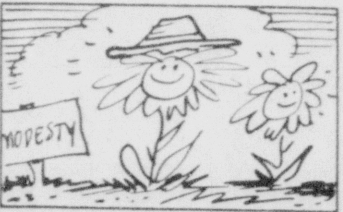

Most social security business can be completed by telephone and mail. Situations requiring face-to-face interviews can be expedited and helped by preliminary contacts by telephone.

Hargrove urges everyone to call first. A special teleservice unit has been set up in the Austin office designated to handle everything possible by telephone.

A social security representative will continue to visit Georgetown and Taylor, but only once each week. The new schedule is as follows: Georgetown, every Thursday, 9:30 a.m. to noon, county courthouse. Taylor, every Tuesday, 9:30 a.m. to noon, Williamason County Building.

Any and all questions about social security, Medicare, or supplemental security income should be called in to the Austin Social Security Office using the new Enterprise number.

In the language of flowers a white violet means "modesty."

Georgetown woman keeps flags waving

The fourth of July is flag-waving time for many Americans but for Maureen Neumann of Georgetown it's flag-making time, like always.

Mrs. Neumann could easily be called the Betsy Ross of Williamson County as she is one of the few flag-makers in the state of Texas.

"It all started about 22 years ago," she said, "when I went from making the costumes for the Apache Bells, the Tyler Junior College Drill Team, and started making banners."

She said that she thought it first began when someone asked her if she thought that she could make a flag and she emphatically replied, "of course I could."

It takes Mrs. Neumann an average of two days to make a flag that measures 4'x6' or larger. Some do take longer to make and Mrs. Neumann remembered the largest flag she ever constructed.

"I made the flag for the Ford Company over in Sweeney, Texas and it measured 20 x 30 feet," she said. The lettering on that one was over eight feet tall."

She said that the flag required more than 50 yards of fabric that is 15 feet wide.

"It was so big and so heavy," Mrs. Neumann said, "That I thought it would never fly — but it did!"

Mrs. Neumann explained that flag-making is a lost art. "It is a very precise kind of work and not many people know that."

She said that most flags (the American, state or signal flags) have to be made in a specific manner with seams in certain places and everything measured correctly. Other flags she makes are her own design and they are simpler to put together because they don't have to be so precise.

All flags are made from a special fabric, nylon and cotton bunting, that Mrs. Neumann orders from New Jersey and they are sewn together on an industrial-weight machine. Many of the intricate designs are applied or embroidered on another special sewing machine.

The hardest flag to make to Mrs. Neumann was for a German organization and she had to copy a 50-year old flag that had been entirely hand-embroidered.

"The designs were very intricate," she remembers, "but I used my embroidery machine so that made it quicker."

Some people that bring their business to Mrs. Neumann know exactly what they want but others only have a vague idea and then it is up to Mrs. Neumann to design the flag, make a pattern and then do the actual sewing.

The Georgetown woman also gets some work from the Capital Flag Company in Houston which is owned by her long-time friend Lucille Parish.

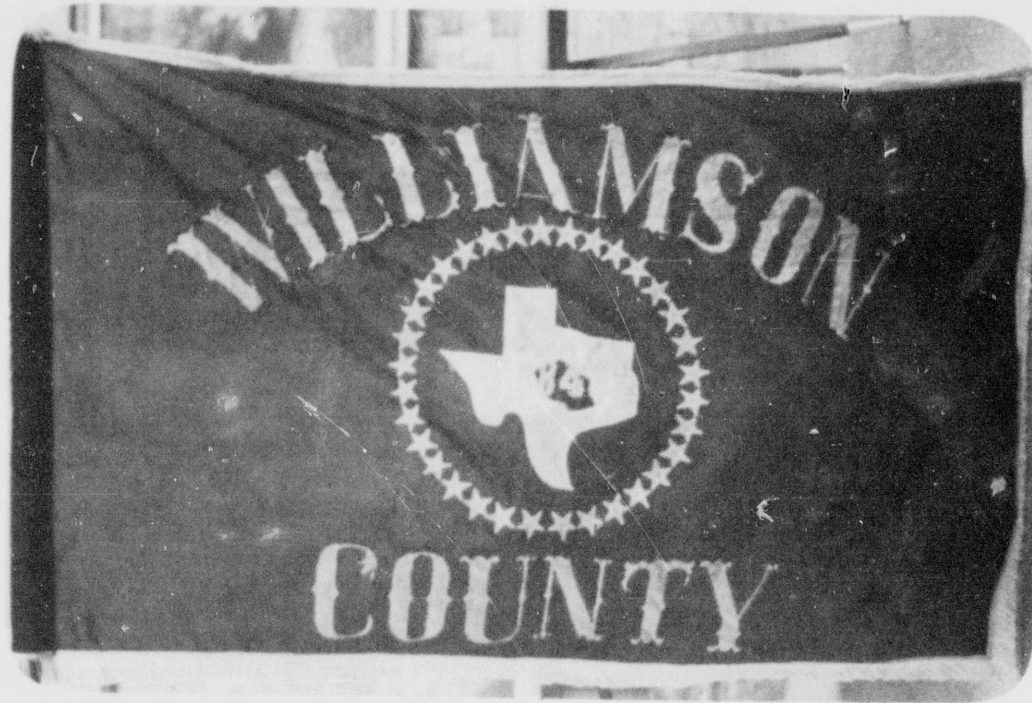

"I taught Lucille how to make flags and helped her get started in the company. We have worked together more than 22 years," Mrs. Neumann said.

She added that she still does a lot of work for the company and is almost always asked to make the hard, large and more intricate orders.

Mrs. Neumann is presently constructing a 4'x6' flag for the Santa Fe Indians of Henderson High School in Henderson, Texas. And she has the order from the Stagecoach Inn in Salado to do next.

Some of the more interesting flags that Mrs. Neumann has made over the years include the Galveston municipal flag, the Georgetown Railroad, Six Flags over Texas, Texas Crushed Stone, the Williamson, Travis and Bell County Sheriff's Poses, the Belton Riding Club, the Williamson County Centennial flag that hangs in the Georgetown Public Library.

WILLIAMSON COUNTY'S FLAG is another one of Mrs. Neumann's projects and it is proudly displayed in the Community Room of the Georgetown Public Library.

USING A SPECIAL industrial-weight sewing machine Mrs. Neumann carefully applies the large white star onto an almost-complete Texas state flag.

IN ADDITION to making flags for people from all over Texas and the United States, Mrs. Maureen Neumann is also quite an artist. She is shown here working on a special commissioned watercolor of the Georgetown Railroad.

One of Mrs. Neumann's Texas flags is presently being displayed at Valley Forge where it was delivered by the Texas Bicentennial Wagon Trail last July 4.

"One morning I heard that the wagon train would be coming through Georgetown on its way to Valley Forge so I ran home, made a Texas flag and delivered it to them a few hours later as they were just making it across town," Mrs. Neumann relayed with a smile.

The nice thing about being a flag-maker, Mrs. Neumann said, "is that when I make a flag no one can argue with me about it."

The flag-maker also told of many times when she was called on to make a flag for a ship waiting to port in Houston.

"A ship can't dock if it isn't flying a flag," she explained, "and if the ship's was torn or something in a storm while they are in quarantine they will call me to make them a flag so they can dock."

"I think I have made a flag for almost every country in the world except the Arabian flag and I have made signal flags for several prominent people."

Signal flags, Mrs. Neumann clarified, are usually flown from boats, home or estate flag poles and carry the special and individual "signal" of the owners. "It is really like a brand or logo," she said.

She designed and constructed private signal flags for Lyndon Johnson while he was president and for TV personality Arthur Godfrey.

Mrs. Neumann has also made most of the flags that are flown in the Georgetown area including the Christ Lutheran Church, Walburg Lutheran Church, Pflugerville Baptist Church and one church in Holland. The rock music bands Z.Z.

Top also called on Mrs. Neumann when they wanted a signal flag made. "It was 8'x12" and had a coyote and a moon design on it," she remembered. "It is probably one of the smallest flags I've ever made."

There aren't many flag-makers around these days, Mrs. Neumann said, "but there are still some good ones and then some not so good ones."

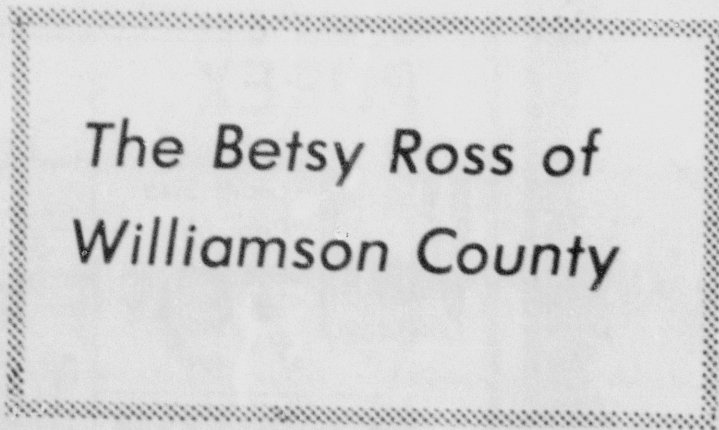

"My name is pretty well known for flag-making," she said with a smile of pride.

THE FIRST STEP of making a flag is to scale the design to the correct size so that the pattern can be transferred to fabric for cutting. Here, Mrs. Neumann is drawing an Indian's head to be used on the flag she is making for the Santa Fe Indians of Henderson High School in Henderson, Texas.

SOME OF THE MORE INTRICATE designs that Mrs. Neumann incorporates into finished flags require her to machine embroider tiny details. She is shown here working a special sewing machine that only does the embroidery work.

MRS. NEUMANN has made so many Texas state flags like this that it now only takes her a few hours to complete one.

Part I of "The Wonderful World of Disney's" feature "Mustang!" will star FLAVIO MARTINEZ on Sunday, July 3 (7-8 p.m., NYT. R.) on NBC.

A personal glimpse

Attending a '76 political fund raising rally

by James Napier

Many of us viewed portions of the Republican and Democratic conventions last year.

For the candidates, it was a long, hard, grueling, agonizing, energy-draining grind.

And, for winner and losers alike, it was an expensive one.

Last summer I had the opportunity of attending a number of donation-gathering affairs for Presidential hopefuls and thought it might be interesting to take you behind-the-scenes for a revealing insight into how (based on the style of each Presidential aspirant) meetings differed.

I first met Ronald Reagan at the Saharah Hotel in Las Vegas.

Reagan's forces unquestionably orchestrated the most emotionally fever-pitched gathering I attended.

There were local bands, local talent, special appearances by Las Vegas performers, balloons, drinks, pep talks reminding us to let Reagan know we were all behind him.

There was an incredible array of television and radio equipment, technicians busily scurrying about, and a battery of reporters.

I talked briefly with ABC's Frank Reynolds who used to anchor their nightly news before Harry Reasoner replaced him. Reynolds had covered Reagan from the beginning and by now had memorized everything the candidate could be expected to say.

For him, it was a repetition of the night before — and the afternoon before that. "I expect nothing new," he told me.

The same was true of CBS' Barry Sarafin who said by now he expected little in the way of startling new revelations.

Sheet music was distributed, the band's playing grew louder (or were the microphones turned up full blast?) and people encouraged to sing, clap their hands, get emotionally involved — their hero was about to arrive.

We were told to welcome him enthusiastically because (1) it would make Reagan feel good after a tiring day, (2) the news crews would be filming, (3) our enthusiasm would make President Ford's camp realize how strong was Reagan's backing.

The crowd whooped it up, and were obviously having a good time. And when Reagan finally arrived pandemonium broke loose.

The cameras gleefully whirled away; flash bulbs popped; tape recorders rolled.

The former governor of California—impressive looking, suntanned, wearing a dark suit, white shirt, dark tie, in excellent physical condition—registered a kind of fascination that so much hoopla would be showered upon such a one as himself.

I had a hard time deciding whether it was the humility or acting or a combination of both reflected in a tempered ego.

Without a doubt, Reagan's speech was stirring, impassioned at points, and punctuated frequently by applause. He spoke of restoring confidence in government, the need for law and order, and putting God back in the schools — themes which struck a responsive chord within devoted followers.

Reagan did not ask for questions from the audience as did Jimmy Carter and Gov. Brown. He did, however, stay a long time afterward, shaking hands, chatting with reporters, signing autographs, obviously enjoying and savoring the lively atmosphere.

Campaign workers feverishly recorded promised donations: the evening had been an apparent success.

My next fund-raising rally, by contrast, was rather sedate and in stark contrast to the one at the Saharah Hotel.

This time the candidate was California Governor Jerry Brown. The location was not a Las Vegas casino but a Jewish temple.

The only similarity this time was scurrying for position by the usual cadre of news reporters.

The setting was quiet, dignified, and without fanfare. No band. No balloons. No streamers. A more youthful and attentive group.

The Governor arrived a few minutes late. This gave some local candidates time to march to the lectern and speak of their accomplishments. The crowd grew restless.

Jerry Brown, the star attraction, finally arrived and was greeted by polite and respectful applause.

Brown spoke briefly, two or three minutes, then opened for questions. I was surprised by the excellent questions some people asked; I was also upset by a number of boring questions that only wasted time.

After the Governor talked about how he was bringing crime under control, I remember one questioner challenging him quite sharply, and — for the first time — I saw Gov. Brown grow irritated and lash out at the questioner. Clearly his "sore spot" was having his record challenged.

The occasion for the meeting was to feature local politicians. What fascinated me was the mass exodus from the temple when Jerry Brown finished. The rest of the politicians sat on the stage staring out at an empty auditorium — empty except for news reporters who were frantically getting their equipment together so as to make the 11:00 news.

Afterward I was approached by two individuals who asked what I thought of Gov. Brown's answers. At first I thought they were sampling responses to see how well he had done. Upon questioning them, I found they represented Senator Frank Church's campaign and had come to pass out a few buttons and literature.

Next morning I awoke early, expecting a large crowd at The University of Nevada at Las Vegas, since Jimmy Carter would speak at 10:00.

Security, as expected, was tight. Carter did not get quite the turnout I expected. Most of those attending were UNLV students.

The most entertaining part was watching the news people jockey about for position, moving mikes, recorders, desperately attempting to get close enough to the candidate to record his statements.

Carter was prompt. He arrived

NORMAN LEAR, TV Leading Supplier

By DAN LEWIS

Changing Face of Sit-Comedies

Since television is notorious for operating in cycles, it is inevitable that within the industry there is speculation about the future of the Norman Lear era.

Lear is generally conceded to have changed the face of situation comedy on television, taking it from the nonsensical, light-brained, hayseed period of "Green Acres," "The Beverly Hillbillies," "Gilligan's Island" and the emptiness of "Ozzie and Harriet" to the more relevant comedy of Archie Bunker and Maude, and of Fred Sanford and son.

They have been known as "hostile comedy," and Lear not only injected them, but he became television's leading supplier of situation comedy, with as many as eight shows in a single season. Spin-offs were rampant ("Maude" and "The Jeffersons" from "All In The Family," and "Good Times" from "Maude" in that furious cycle).

"All in the Family" was a No. 1 show for several seasons. The other shows with the Lear trademark were constantly in the Top 10. But now, these shows have become soft in the numbers game. Lear won't have a new comedy on the fall schedule for the first time in a number of years (he was trying for "A Year At The Top" but after rejections at CBS and NBC, it will become a summer replacement show at CBS).

To suggest that this era is fading, in the presence of Lear, draws his wrath.

"It's a lot of bull," declares Lear. "I don't have to listen to that... predictions of gloom."

Lear feels television executives alone are responsible for cycles.

"The American public is ready to be interested in whatever they find entertaining, and interesting. The fact that I did relevant shows, didn't mean that Gary Marshall couldn't come along with a Fonzie ("Happy Days") or LaVerne and Shirley, and be a big success, too. Nor does it mean that I won't do a relevant theme next time."

Lear is a revolutionary. He fought and overcame the establishment to get "All In the Family" on the air with its barrier-breaking confrontation with bigotry, in a comedic form.

When he couldn't convince the networks to pick up a hokey, outrageous soap opera titled "Mary Hartman, Mary Harman," he went into syndication. "MH,MH" became the new rage of television, from its opening show in January, 1976. It proved costly in its first season, a reported $2,000,000 deficit.

Lear now says he recouped in the second season, getting larger fees (double and triple, in some instances) based on the first year's success.

But "MH,MH" has had it as a nightly soap. Ratings have dropped around the country, (from a 10-11 average early in the season to an 8 in New York) and Louise Lasser ran out the string of her two-year contract.

Lear, however, will continue in his new pursuits of causing anxiety pains for the three commercial networks, by pursuing independents, and network affiliates with properties for syndication. Mary Hartman, for instance, may be forsaking Fernwood, but most of the others will stay in the neighborhood. Lear has come up with a spin-off, "Fernwood 2-Night" which will have its premiere mostly as "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" replacement, July 4.

In this new form, the people of Fernwood will become talk-show stars. The characters will be the guests on a nightly talk-show in another bold effort by Lear to poke acerbic fun at society, and still remain entertaining.

Despite his personal drive, Lear has been unable to generate as much interest in "All That Glitters" as he fostered when "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" was launched 16 months ago. In New York, on Channel 11, "All That Glitters" has been drawing a no better audience than its predecessor, "The Honey-mooners." Both settled in with 3 ratings. But for "All That Glitters," it has been disappointing.

Meanwhile, Lear is continuing his efforts to curb network influence over total programming. His taste of success in the "All In the Family" and later "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" versus the networks has inspired new efforts, new ground-breaking. Lear has been among a number of producers reportedly considering some form of a fourth network.

prime-time schedule for each night of the week. What I'm thinking is that we can offer first-run options on a single night. It could be Saturday, or Sunday. It has to be a weekend night since most independent stations strip reruns in prime time during the week nights."

America Says It With Music

A television collage of materials will be presented on "They Said It With Music: Yankee Doodle To Ragtime" in celebration of America's birthday. The special will be shown on July 4, and will use a montage of live action, graphic art, vintage photography, original historic film, and animation.

The special presentation is the creation of the late Goddard Lieberson, whose untimely death on May 29 left an unfillable gap in the music industry. The program marks Mr. Lieberson's first venture into television production after having served as president of CBS-Columbia Records for 36 years. He was a pioneer in the field of recording original cast albums of scores of Broadway musicals which brought (and continue to bring) countless hours of listening pleasure to lovers of show music in parts of this country and parts of the world who reside in areas that are far remote from any Broadway stage. Goddard Lieberson has won seven Grammy Awards, was a composer of music, an author of books on music, a teacher, a critic, and editor of the "International Encyclopedia of Music and Musicians." He founded the American Composers Alliance, was a life fellow of the International Institute of Arts and Letters, and served as president and chairman of the Recording Industry Association of Music.

Before his death, Mr. Lieberson spoke about his special salute to America's 201st birthday and said that "the music used in the program will be the songs that have stirred this nation, the songs we know but don't think we know, music that is intertwined with significant moments in the American experience."

The program will use music to illustrate the nation's heritage. There will be songs in praise of America's physical beauty, songs about its workingmen, about the Revolutionary and Civil Wars, about the struggles of its black men. There will be spirituals and a medley of Stephen Foster compositions. There will be songs about men and women, ranging from sentimentality and romance to "the war between the sexes," and leading into the songs of the suffragettes.

There will be songs about transportation, songs about the economy's fluctuations as the country grew, songs about "the rich and the poor." The special will show the evolution of jazz, of ragtime, of dance, of vaudeville, of Tin Pan Alley (where the "hits" were made), of sports, of inventions and of the American home.

JASON ROBARDS and BERNADETTE PETERS combine talents for the CBS special "They Said It With Music: Yankee Doodle to Ragtime" on Monday, July 4 (9-11 p.m., EDT).

The stellar cast includes Bernadette Peters, Tony Randall, Jason Robards, Jean Stapleton and Flip Wilson. In this major two-hour presentation, these stars will perform in styles that are dramatically different from those in which their talents are usually employed. Supporting them will be a chorus of singers and dancers who will bring to the television screen a kaleidoscope of songs, dances, and costumes illustrating historical periods and events.

The program will tell the story of America through the music America grew up with. It will also salute the American song writer for his contribution to our heritage. The songwriter records history in a genre which cannot be tapped by those who chronicle events with words and pictures, and so makes a unique contribution to history through the miracle of modern sound.

The script for "They Said It With Music: Yankee Doodle To Ragtime," written by Mr. Lieberson with Max Wilk, who is an historian of American popular music, is based on the lyrics and melodies of songs that have long existed in the hearts and minds of Americans.

The program was produced and directed by Bob Henry, with Lieberson as executive producer. Henry is an Emmy Award winning writer-producer-director whose credits include musical variety shows that have starred Flip Wilson, Perry Como, Nat "King" Cole, Dinah Shore and Andy Williams, to name just a few.

Fred Karlin, winner of Emmy and Oscar Awards, is musical researcher and director of the program. He is an historian of popular music and is a Grammy nominee for his musical compositions in television, motion pictures and recordings.

All film, animated sequences and graphic designs were conceived and executed by Jerome Rosenfeld. Rob Iscove is choreographer and the costumes were designed by Bill Belew.

BREAKFAST IDEA

In many languages, the word for breakfast has the same origin. In English, it means just what it says—the meal that is meant to "break the fast" of the night. In France, breakfast is le petit déjeuner. It means the "little" meal that breaks the fast!

Everyone knows a good day begins with a good breakfast. One that's balanced with foods like juice and milk, fresh fruit, toast, cereal or eggs. In some countries meat or fish is also served for added protein.

Be inventive with your menu. Don't just serve eggs and toast. Make the toast French—and deck it with brown sugar, honey, jam or maple syrup. It's a more festive way to greet the day.

James Michener

James A. Michener, Host and guide to JAMES MICHENER'S WORLD, is one of the most internationally renowned novelists and travel writers of our time.

Born in 1907 of unknown parents, he was raised on community poor funds, spending periods of his youth in the Doylestown (Bucks County, Pennsylvania) poorhouse. Most of his early years, however, were passed in a home run by a generous-hearted widowed woman named Michener who cared for abandoned children.

His wanderlust was not long in surfacing and, in his teens, he left Pennsylvania to travel across the country by boxcar, working in carnival shows and a Chautaugua company. Before he was twenty years old he had visited all but three of the States in the Union.

styles of life, always with the intention of bringing diverse peoples together. One dominant theme emerges in his works -- the brotherhood of peoples.

Michener later crossed the Pacific many times, gathering material for his novels, "Sayonara," "Return to Paradise" and "The Bridges at Toko-Ri." He moved to Honolulu in 1949 and became active in civic affairs. His best selling novel, "Hawaii," was completed ten years later, on the day that Congress voted the islands into the Union.

By now Michener has lived or worked (as a cultural ambassador of the United States) in a large percentage of the world's nations; among them, Indonesia and Malaya, Turkey, Egypt, Lebanon, Venezuela, Rumania, Pakistan, the Soviet Union and Afghanistan. The latter Michener later entered Swarthmore College as a scholarship student and was graduated with highest honors. He went on to St. Andrews in Bucks County. For the next two years, he "taught others how to teach," first at Colorado State Teachers College, and then as Assistant Visiting Professor of History at Harvard University. Subsequently, he edited textbooks for a New York publisher, a position that was interrupted by World War II, when he joined the Navy.

The Navy introduced Michener to the Pacific. From his wartime experiences in the Solomon Islands came his first book, "Tales of the South Pacific," which he mailed anonymously to his former employer. Published in 1947, the book won a Pulitzer Prize. Michener won back his job as textbook editor and Rodgers, Logan and Hammerstein adapted his story into the long-running Broadway musical, "South Pacific."

This first book exemplified the course Michener's subsequent career would take: he would write of different cultures, different religions, different provided the background for his 1963 novel, "Caravans." Hungary, during the 1956 uprising was the subject of his non-fiction book, "The Bridge at Andau." His 1965 novel, "The Source," set in Israel, centered on that country's unique historical position as the birthplace of Judaism, Christianity and Islam, now documented visually on JAMES MICHENER'S WORLD in "Israel: A Search for Faith."

His most recent novels "The Drifters," "Iberia" and "Centennial." A non-fiction book, "Sports in America," was published in June 1976.

Michener currently lives with his wife, Mari, in Pennsylvania, not far from his Bucks County childhood home. He is writing a new book between filming the JAMES MICHENER'S WORLD documentary specials for KCET and PBS.

What better way to mark the return of Laugh-In then to have Bette Davis ride in on a dump truck, declaring "What a dump!" Aside from the Oscar-winning actress, former Georgia governor Lestor Maddox will play the harmonica on the special as half of a new act, "The Governor and the Dishwasher," sharing the stage with black guitar strummer Bobby Lee Fears. While governor, Maddox pardoned Fears from prison. This will be the first of six specials.

George Burns will make his TV movie debut in "The Comedy Factory," an MGM movie being made for CBS. Burns plays an internationally renowned comic who gives a benefit performance to salvage a nightclub run by Jack Albertson. Burgess Meredith has been signed for a recurring role in ABC's "How the West Was Won," their 20-hour 10-part series. Fionnula Flanagan has been cast to play Kate, the part originally played by Eva Marie Saint.

Cheryl Ladd the newest of Charlie's Angels is not new to working with one of her partners. "I first met Kate Jackson when I was featured in "Satan's School for Girls." Kate was the female star... It seems like a wild coincidence that four years after working together in a movie about Satan, we're playing 'angels' in a series by the same Producers, Aaron Spelling and Leonard Goldberg." Some coincidence... Franklin Ajaye, who appeared in the hit film "Car Wash" has landed a regular role on Chico and the Man. He'll play Della Resse's son.

Ned Beatty plays a retired Marine who runs a Washington D.C. community center in Szyszyk, a CBS series getting a six week run beginning Aug. 1. Also starring in the comedy are Olivia Cole (Chicken George's wife Matilda in Roots), Susan Lanier, Leonard Barr, and Jarrold Johnson, Scott Colomby and Thomas Carter are the center's chief habitués... Norman Fell isn't much of a landlord although he plays one on Three's Company. He's been roaming far from the series' Santa Monica apartment building during hiatus. In addition to performing in Joan Rivermorer's feature "Rabbit Test," he's guested for the 14th time on the Tonight Show, accompanied Burt Reynolds to Georgia, where he did a Mike Douglas stint, guested on Dinah! and is currently filming six Tattle Tale game shows with his wife, Karen.

LeVar Burton plays the title role in "Billy," an NBC-TV movie about a ghetto kid. Also starring are Michael Constantine, Ossie Davis and Tina Andrews. Richard Benjamin's comedy series Quark, about an outer-space garbage scow, has been picked up by NBC as a possible replacement series. Jane Seymour and John McNery are the stars of "Our Mutual Friend," a seven-part dramatization of Charles Dickens' last completed novel, beginning Aug. 28 on PBS' Masterpiece Theatre. Jack Klugman, star of Quincy, and NBC were honored by the California State Senate for exemplary action in presenting an episode dealing with medical jurisprudence in rape cases. Shirley Jo Finney, a professional actress who was voted "the best athlete" during her junior high track career, will portray Olympic gold medalist Wilma Rudolph in the NBC drama, "Wilma." One of the biggest corporate frauds in the history of American business will be dramatized in NBC's "Billion Dollar Bubble." Starring in the BBC production are Sam Wanamaker, James Woods, Bill Hootkins, Christopher Guest and Shane Rimer. The crime was a $2 billion insurance embezzlement.

Four human and two wooden stars have been signed for next season's Muppet Show, the smash syndicated series. Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd will join with their distant Muppet cousins, as will Madeline Kahn, Rich Little, Leu Rawls and Edgar Bergen, who goes along with Charlie and Mortimer. Irwin Shaw's novel, "Beggar, Thief" will be out in dressed in dark trousers and a light sport coat. He flashed the ever-present smile.

The meeting opened with prayer.

Then followed an unimpassioned yet straightforward talk. No theatrics. No band. Just a talk followed by a few questions from the audience. Before I realized it, the meeting was over.

News reporters, including ABC's Sam Donaldson, found Mr. Carter chatting amiably with them and pumped him with oft repeated questions so as to garner quotes and pictures.

The candidate was then whisked away to another city for another similar gathering — all part of the packaging of a President since "image" becomes all important in an election year.

Later that week President Ford visited Las Vegas and I tried to see him but found his plans were to address a private gathering of donors rather than a public meeting. Security was extremely tight and (despite my efforts to do so) I only saw the President on film during a local TV newscast.

My personal feelings were that nothing — not film, not live TV interviews — nothing equaled the impact I felt upon seeing the candidates in person.

Eye-ball-to-eye-ball contact impacts us.

Seeing a man in person — gauging his sincerity, his mannerisms, his confidence, these are things I found myself much more able to do than I could from a 10:00 "film excerpt" on the news.

In the end, despite the extensive media coverage, it all came down to the singular vote of each person. The extent to which radio and television coverage influenced people's votes (if it did at all) will be studied, pondered, and weighed for a long time to come.

T.V. Dial-ogue

WAR ZONE -- This is a trivia question. I used to watch Combat! all the time when I was a kid. I know Vic Morrow was Sgt. Saunders and Rick Jason was Lt. Hanley, but could you tell me the first names of these two characters, and who played the rest of the squad? Barry Wallace, Waterbury, Conn.

Back in those dog days of WW II on ABC, the battle was fought by Chip Saunders and Gil Hanley. The infantrymen included Jack Hogan as the ever-complaining Kirby, Pierre Jalbert as Caje, Dick Peabody as the gentle giant Littlejohn and Conlan Carter as Doc.

EPIC -- I have a lot of questions to ask. First off, I've been stumped by the name of a movie. I saw it twice, you'd think I could remember it! It starred Debbie Reynolds and I think Eddie Fisher. It was about a girl who found a baby. She has trouble with her job and enters a dance contest. Then she ends up marrying the boss's son. It was "Baby in Blue," "Blue Baby" or "Bye, Bye Baby." Something like that. Second why don't they put any of the great movie musicals on TV any more. They were the best ever. Last, whatever happened to Tony Curtis? How old is he and is he married? Thanks.

Julie Mitzel, Hope, N.D.

Whew! First off, the Debbie Reynolds picture, which I can't believe you've seen twice, is "Bundle of Joy." Second, there are plenty of musicals on the tube. The problem is they are so old the networks no longer carry them, only local stations for the most part. They're usually on at one or two in the morning, so you may have to become a night person to catch the footlight parade. Finally, nothing's happened to Tony Curtis, except he's grown a little older. He's currently working on a theatrical film, "The Manitou," has just published his first novel and has been making the talk show circuit. He's 52 and married.

SOUTHSIDE -- In the movie "Between the Lines," there's a rock band called Southside Johnny and the Asbury Jukes. What's Johnny's last name, and are they really actors? Mike Padillo, Miami, Fla.

It's Southside Johnny Lyons. The only acting the band's ever done is rocking it up on stage as musicians on the Jersey shore (from whence they came along with The Boss Bruce Springsteen and the E Street Band). They just finished a national tour, but no more movies lie ahead.

Georgetown man attends San Antonio convention

Donald Gattis of Georgetown was in San Antonio June 23-25 for the 43rd Annual Convention/5th Southwest Exposition of Texas Motor Transportation Association, the statewide organization representing the truck and bus industry in Texas.

Convention meetings were held in the San Antonio Convention Center.

Highlighting the program were addresses by State Comptroller Bob Bullock, American Trucking Associations President Bennett Whitlock, ATMTA Chairman Tommy Morris, president of M & M Trucking Inc., a spokesman for the energy industry, a management consultant and an insurance representative.

Morriss, who has served during the past year as TMTA's top elected official, addressed the Board on Thursday and presided throughout the three days of activities.

TMTA's 43rd Annual Convention 5th Southwest Exposition officially opened at 1 p.m. on Thursday, June 23, with an Exposition Ribbon-Cutting Ceremony at the West Entrance to the San Antonio Convention Center. The Exposition was open to the public from 1:30 to 5 p.m. on Thursday, from 1:30 to 5 p.m. on Friday and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday.

Gifts and prizes were awarded daily in the Exposition Area, and all persons going through the exhibits area were eligible for prizes.

Persons attending the TMTA Convention and any representative of the truck and bus industry were admitted free to the Exposition Hall. Tickets for the general public were $1 each.

All functions, with the exception of a Board of Directors/President's Club Breakfast on Saturday morning, were held in the San Antonio Convention Center.

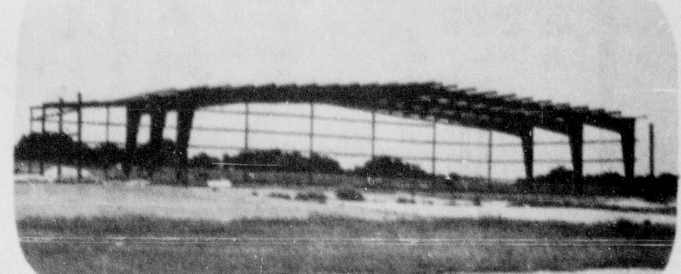

More than 130 exhibit spaces were reserved in the San Antonio Convention Center, and they filled more than 100,000 square feet of space.

Displays were from all major truck and trailer manufacturers, smaller truck and bus equipment manufacturers and companies which serve the motor transportation industry.

Response to research contest improving

High school history students have responded well to the Original Research Contest sponsored by the Williamson County Historical Commission.

Two high schools have submitted between thirty and forty entries and other schools, having been granted more time, are expected to file reports soon. The competition was offered to all high schools in Williamson County.

The rules of the contest stressed originality and proof of the source of the subject which must be a phase of Williamson County history. All of the essays and tapes received by the Commission reflect much time and thought in their preparation and are refreshingly original.

These young historians are making an outstanding contribution to the present day history of Williamson County in their own locality. The entries include biographies; some based on personal interviews, family histories, histories of homes, churches, schools, businesses, events and places of interest. The collection would make interesting reading in published form.

All entries are being carefully read by the special committee and all will be passed on to an impartial judge as soon as all participating schools have replied.

Members of the Williamson County Historical Commission are pleased that an increased number of students took part in the competition this year and hope an even greater number will plan to enter next year.

Without the thrust of motivation and continued guidance of the high school teachers this project would not have been possible.

Jarrell Airman
participates in joint training

Airman First Class Jordan Tuttle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Tuttle of Rt. 1, Jarrell is scheduled to participate in "Brave Shield XVI," a U.S. readiness Command joint forces training exercise being conducted in Southern California and Nevada.

Airman Tuttle is a special vehicle equipment mechanic at Bergstrom AFB, with the 602nd Tactical Air Control Center.

The exercise, which will involve thousands of Air Force, Army, Navy and Marine Corps personnel, is designed to provide a joint training environment to evaluate tactics, techniques and procedures.

The airman is a 1975 graduate of Jarrell High School.

The word "cattle" comes from the Latin capitale meaning wealth or property. At one time it meant all domestic animals. Now it is used only for bovines.

A DAILY INCIDENT!

Hardly a day passes without the newspapers reporting an automobile accident. Lives are lost and bodies maimed due to careless driving on our streets and highways.

Another daily incident which the newspapers often do not report, and to which others are indifferent, is the ruining of lives and character in the wretched, uneducated, and poverty-ridden parts of the great cities in our land. There are those who despair of ever getting out of their situation and so despondency sets in and a lack of desire to strive for worthy goals enters the spirit.

A loving God would have us aware of these whose lives, self-respect and character could be saved - if we were interested enough.

God often impresses the needs of His children upon those who attend His church. It is His will that we should show forth the love of God for mankind by helping all who are suffering.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Florence Chamber plans for 'Friendship Days'

The Sunday SUN
Page 9
Georgetown, Texas
Sunday, July 3, 1977

By Mrs. J. E. Caskey

Mrs. Mozelle Priest, Mr. and Mrs. Smith were in Keller over the weekend to visit Mr. and Mrs. Redge Priest and family. They also visited Charles Lindert at the Presbyterian Hospital in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Ray have returned home from Memphis, Tennessee where they visited their children.

Guests in the Foy Haydon home were Mr. and Mrs. Al Downing of Sitka, Alaska, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Oertli of Bertram.

Mrs. Dick Stapp had surgery Monday morning at the Holy Cross Hospital.

She is now in room 515, Dick Stapp, Mrs. O. R. Butler, Mrs. Lynn Gray, Rev. William Horick, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Knauth, and Miss Debbie Stapp were in Austin to be with her.

Mrs. Vi Hundley of Taylor was a visitor in Florence Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Housewright spent Friday night in Austin with the Frysingers and attended their granddaughter's wedding Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Howell and Mrs. B. C. Womack of Georgetown attended services at the Florence Methodist Church Sunday morning.

Tracy Frysinger of Austin and Miss Reneau Fair of San Marcos spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Housewright.

Mrs. James Devereaux, Miss Jewell Wheeler and Mrs. J. E. Caskey were in Bertram Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Melton Niesch and three daughters of Tucson, Arizona visited her aunt, Mrs. Ross Butler, and Mr. Butler the last of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Foy Gardner of Georgetown were Sunday visitors in the S. E. Priest home. He was the guest speaker at the Florence Church of Christ that morning and night.

Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Butler and Mrs. Lynn Gray were in Austin Saturday to visit Mrs.

Dick Stapp in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shields of Ennis, formerly of Killeen, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Cynthia Denise, to Gayle Mitchell Harmon. Miss Shields is the granddaughter of Archie Bell of Florence.

Florence Chamber of Commerce met in regular session Tuesday in the educational building of Methodist Church. After being catered a delicious Bar-B-Q Dinner and listening to gospel singing by "The Miracles," President B. M. Beck called the meeting to order and the business meeting began.

Beck announced that the Chisholm Trail Water Supply Corporation had been organized, which will be supplying water from the North Fork Reservoir on the North San Gabriel River. The water corporation will include rural areas even to the Lampasas River.

Residents outside the city limits of Florence desiring to use this water supply must sign up as soon as possible, pay the $100 tap fee and begin laying water lines from their water meter at the houses to the property lines.

For further information contact Beck at the Union State Band in Florence.

Next discussion was conducted by Lee Roy Knauth, president of the board of Florence Clinic, Inc. He urged stockholders to please make an effort to attend the meeting, or send a proxy. The meeting has been set for July 12, in the Community Room of Union State Bank.

T. E. Beck, chairman of "Friendship Days" and Mrs. Jewel, co-chairman announced all the working committees and handed out fliers and lists of each committee member. The regular meeting then adjourned and each committee met to discuss final plans for the "Best Yet" Annual Florence "Friendship Days".

The telephone committee for the July Chamber meeting will be Mrs. Billie Stacy and Mrs. Dolly Caskey.

The food committee announced that the July meeting would be held in the City Park with an Ice Cream Supper. Everyone is asked to either bring a freezer of ice cream or cakes/pies. Wear your working clothes and come in your pick-up truck if you own one. This will be a fun, working, outdoor meeting for the whole family.

The July meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the City Park, July 26.

Miss Friendship entries sought

The Fifth Annual Florence Friendship Days have been scheduled this year for the July 29-30, and entrants are needed for the Miss Friendship pageant to be held Saturday, July 30, at 8 p.m.

All persons desiring to sponsor a young lady in the Miss Friendship contest are urged to make selections as soon as possible so that photographs can be taken for publication.

Also, persons interested in entering tots in the Baby Show, to be held at 6 p.m. Friday, should contact Mrs. Elsie Walker as soon as possible.

Contestants for the Miss Friendship pageant must have attended Florence High School during 1976 or 1977 or be a FHS graduate now residing in the Florence school district. Girls who will not have reached their 21st birthday before July 1, 1977 are encouraged to enter the pageant.

County full of UT grads

Williamson County was well represented when the University of Texas College of Engineering and College of Education awarded bachelor's degrees at the close of the 1977 spring semester.

Donnie O'Neal Stewart of Florence earned a bachelor of science degree in architectural engineering.

Mahmoud V. Mani of Georgetown and Thomas William Dilger of Leander each received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering.

Suesanne Gail Smith Gibson of Cedar Park and Linda Lou Petrosky Simonson of Georgetown each were awarded a bachelor of science degree in education.

In elementary education, Deborah Suzan of Round Rock, Linda Marie Brinkmeyer Dittmeyer of Taylor received degrees.

Robert Edgar Purl of Georgetown, Rebecca Kathleen Herber of Round Rock and James Edward Bartosh, Jr. were given bachelor of science degrees in physical education.

Barry Smoot to tour Europe

Barry Smoot, son of Charles Smoot of Georgetown, is currently on tour with the 1977 American Youth Studio Jazz Band Goodwill European Concert and Study Tour.

Smoot, a 1976 graduate of Childress High School and a freshman music education major at Abilene Christian University, plays the tenor saxophone and flute.

He is one of seven students from ACU participating in the 20-member band. Their tour will include stops in France, Switzerland, Austria, The Netherlands and Germany.

The Studio Jazz Band is a related organization of the American Youth Symphony Chorus, an organization dedicated to the development of American youth and the assurance of peace and understanding throughout the world through the performance of music.

SAFETY SENSE
Tips On Bicycling
Enjoying a bicycle means riding it safely. Here are some tips on preventing you or someone you know from joining the approximately 460,000 people who are hospitalized for bicycle-related injuries each year.

1. Observe all traffic laws and signals.
2. Don't ride double or attempt stunts.
3. Ride near the curb in the same direction as traffic.
4. Walk, don't ride, the bike across crowded intersections.
5. Make sure you have good lights. One light that's a 35-candlepower fluorescent signal can be sighted from as far as two miles away. Called Mighty Light, its green color has been designed to match the sensitivity of the human eye. It is easily installed with a screwdriver. The unit is operated by a wheel-driven generator, the most powerful of its size, and never needs
batteries. It's from the Maxon Company, which you can write for more information,
at 20630 Harper, Harper
Woods, Michigan 48225.
6. Avoid loose clothing or long coats that can catch in the pedals or wheels.
Follow these tips and you'll be pedaling your way to safer
bicycling—and lots more fun
on wheels.

PICNIC BASKET IDEAS
According to Webster's dictionary, a picnic is "a pleasure party, the food for which is usually provided by members of the group and is eaten in the open air."
Americans love picnics. A popular pastime in the summer and early fall is toting a basket picnic supper to an outdoor concert.
Whether it's rock, jazz or Beethoven's Fifth, people of all ages can be found in the local parks listening to music and eating a sandwich.
Another favorite is the tailgate picnic—so called because a station wagon's tailgate when lowered makes an ideal picnic table. This modern version of a chuck wagon meal is a great way to picnic before a baseball or football game.
The best part of any picnic is the food. Make sure you have plenty of it; you'll work up an appetite just being outdoors. Select foods that suit the weather, the group and the picnic site. In general picnic foods should be quick to make, simple to carry and easy to eat. Finger foods (crackers, peanuts, raw vegetables, pickles),
cold cooked meats, hearty salads (potato, macaroni, rice, coleslaw), hot and cold
thermos drinks and uncut
fruit travel well.
Sandwiches are always popular for picnics. Make them ahead and wrap individually or carry different fillings in plastic containers along with a variety of breads and rolls. Suggested here is Curried Shrimp Salad
for sandwiches.

CURRIED SHRIMP SALAD
Makes 6 sandwiches
2 cups chopped cooked
shrimp
1 cup finely chopped
celery
2 tablespoons finely
chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon curry powder
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons chopped
parsley
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup chopped Peanuts
6 hard rolls
Combine shrimp and celery in a large bowl. Mix together onion, salt, curry, lemon juice, parsley and mayonnaise. Blend into shrimp mixture. Chill.
Add peanuts. Cut 1/2-inch slice from top of each roll,
then scoop out soft center.
Fill hollow of each roll with shrimp mixture.

★ Blue hole

Cooper is an expert on tree identification and provided useful information on the preservation and protection of a wide-variety of trees surrounding Blue Hole.

The park project is the result of Youth Conservation Corp funds provided by the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Interior.

Georgetown received sufficient funding to hire eighteen youngsters during the summer to carry out ecology related work.

So far work is progressing extremely well and when park benches are placed at Blue Hole, family outings might hopefully become the rule rather than the exception.

We still have extra copies of the SUN's CENTENNIAL EDITION. They are 60¢ each at the counter, or, we will mail them anywhere in the U.S. for $2.00 per copy.

Local Girl Scout to travel to Washington

A Georgetown Girl Scout, Patricia Thomas, will join 95 other scouts in Olympia, Washington July 8 through July 24 as part of a special program, known as "Wider Opportunities."

The Girl Scouts will be participating in a council event called "Fins 'n Forest 1977," where they will study fish and wildlife, and the fishing and logging industries.

Miss Thomas is the daughter of Etoy Thomas of Georgetown and she is presently employed as a summer aide at the Farmers Home Administration in Georgetown.

The Georgetown High School Senior said that she has been a Girl Scout for seven years. In 1974 she traveled to the state of Wyoming for a two-week primitive camping adventure and again in 1976 she was sent to New York City as part of the Wider Opportunities program.

Miss Thomas was selected to represent the Lone Star Girl Scout Council, which consists of 18 Central Texas counties, during the Washington meeting.

"I really wanted to go to California this year," Miss Thomas said, "but my second choice was Washington and I'm glad to get to go there."

The scout will leave Georgetown July 8 from Austin where she will fly to Seattle to meet her host family for a three-day visit in Tacoma. She will then travel on to Olympia to participate in Fins 'n Forest before returning for another three days in Tacoma with her host family.

Some of the activities Miss Thomas will participate in during her adventure in the Washington forest include fresh water trout fishing, visiting Mt. Ranier, deep sea fishing on the coast and eating salmon in the true Pacific Northwest Indian style.

Wash swimsuits regularly to give them longer, brighter life, advises Marlene Odle-Kemp, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Three attend Cancer Society meeting

Martha Hollan, Jewell Carter and Merle Weir, all of Georgetown, represented the Northwest Williamson County Cancer Society at the Annual District meeting of the American Cancer Society held at Howard Johnson's in Austin June 17.

The women participated in the conference dedicated to public education and public information.

Rydels announce birth of daughter

Mark and Sharon Rydel are proud to announce the birth of their second daughter who arrived June 27 at Seton Hospital in Austin.

The infant, who has been named Summer Nicole, weighed 7 lbs. 2 ozs. and measured 20 inches at birth.

Summer Nicole is the granddaughter of Grogan and Dorothy Lord. She also has a two-year old sister, Shelly.

To dispose of a credit card, cut it in small pieces, advises Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

SAYING GOOD-BYE to resigning Chamber of Commerce manager L. L. Longley at a surprise party given in his honor at the Chamber office Thursday morning were more than 20 well-wishers. Longley was presented with a cake inscribed with "Best Wishes Always" which he shared with the other guests. At left, Longley shakes hands with Virgil Carlson while Bonnie Schaefer and Robert DeWitt chat in the background. Below, Carlson, Wayne Meadows, Lew Holder, Ken Poteete, Fran DeWitt, Lill Gower say their farewells to Longley (far right) over cake and punch.

Taylor Chamber of Commerce studies civic center finance

Erwin Teggegan and H. L. Farrell were named co-chairmen of a committee to ascertain definite cost figures and pursue several avenues of financing for the proposed civic and recreation center in Taylor.

Teggegan and Farrell were named by a group of representatives from the various civic organizations in Taylor.

representatives from the various civic organizations in Taylor.

participate and cooperate with the proposal.

Preliminary cost estimates of the facility run from $500,000 to $600,000 and possibly to $1 million including furnitures and fixtures, according to Dr. Mike Seaquist, who showed the group sets of building plans drawn up by the Taylor Rodeo Association.

These plans include covering the existing rodeo arena and the construction of an air-conditioned building approximately 20,000 square feet in size adjoining the south end of the rodeo arena.

The rodeo association has pledged its existing arena and cash of approximately $30,000 to the project.

Plans for a new, modern motel facility to be built south of the proposed civic center are progressing and construction is expected to begin before the end of the summer.

CB blamed for 'excess speed'

By United Press International
Sacramento, California

The president of the California Trucking Association has denounced the citizens band radio as the biggest reason for truckers exceeding the 55 mile-an-hour speed limit.

Alfred J. Eyraud of Los Angeles said recently, "The worst thing that ever happened to us was the advent and the spread of the CB radio. That is the root of this excessive speed evil."

Mr. Eyraud, who estimated his association of truck owners represented 8 out of 10 big rigs on California roadways, also blamed the Teamsters, independent operators, and the drivers themselves for failure to obey the speed law.

He spoke with reporters during a statewide public relations tour to promote support for the 55 m.p.h. limit and to endorse newly announced intensified efforts by the Highway Patrol to crack down on truck speeders.

Texas dairy business grows

Texas dairy operations are getting bigger and total cash receipts from dairying are increasing, says a dairy specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. Michael Tomaszewski provides a few facts and figures about the Texas dairy business to highlight the designation of June as Dairy Month by the nation's dairymen.

Texas currently boasts some 320,000 dairy cows and 3,181 dairymen, notes Tomaszewski. Based on figures from the April Texas Milk Market Report, these dairymen daily delivered an average of 3,184 pounds of milk. A year ago 3,315 dairymen were making average daily deliveries of 3,054 pounds of milk. The percent of milk entering the Class I (fresh fluid milk) market has remained about the same — 69.6 percent last April to 69.2 percent this April.

Texas milk production totaled 273,182,814 pounds this April, points out the dairy specialist. The top 10 dairying counties, led by Hopkins with 47,350,131 pounds of milk, accounted for just over half the total of April production in Texas. Other leading counties, in order of production, were Erath, Wise, Johnson, Comanche, Grimes, Cooke, Wood, Upshur and Parker.

Total Texas milk production in 1976 was just over 3.3 billion pounds, or about 2.7 percent of the U.S. total, notes Tomaszewski. The 320,000 cows averaged 10,341 pounds of milk at 3.55 percent of butterfat and 367 pounds of fat. The average uniform price per 100 pounds of milk in 1976 was $10.28.

Dairy cows numbered 333,000 in 1975 and averaged only 9,634 pounds of milk each, which sold for an average uniform price of $9.59 per 100 pounds.

HEARING TESTS SET FOR GEORGETOWN WEDNESDAY JULY 6

Mrs. Cora Dickson's Home
511 Main
10 a.m. to 12 noon

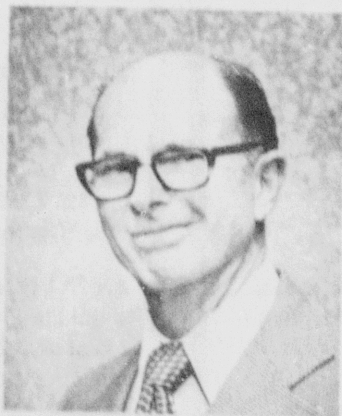

For thousands of people, there is an answer to a hearing problem. Some can be helped medically or surgically — and many can be helped electronically. For all, however, the first step is a hearing test.

Electronic hearing tests are scheduled at the Beltone Hearing Aid Service Center on Wednesday, July 6th. Shut-in service is also offered.

Audiograms are available for your medical records. Anyone in the Georgetown area is invited to stop at Mrs. Cora Dickson's home, 511 Main. Appointments for tests on other dates can be made by calling 472-1777 or 454-9124 in Austin.

To hold this down...

(your electric bill)

turn this up...

(your thermostat)

Many thousands of Texas Power & Light customers enjoy the comfort of air conditioning in their homes and for most it is the biggest factor in their electric bills during the summer months.

If your home is air-conditioned, you can hold down your electric bill by turning up your thermostat. On whole-house systems, set the thermostat on 78° or higher. On window units, adjust the cooling control to maintain a room temperature in the upper seventies. Turn the air conditioner off if you're going to be away from home for several days or longer.

Check filters every 30 days. Replace dirty disposable-type filters; clean permanent-type by manufacturer's directions. Keep furniture and draperies away from air outlets and returns; clean grills often. Close draperies and blinds to keep out direct sunlight. Keep fireplace damper closed.

Replace worn or missing weatherstripping and caulking around windows and doors. Ask an insulation dealer or a TP&L Service Representative to help you make certain your home is adequately insulated.
